SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Thought.

Thought is deeper than all speech, Feeling deeper than all thought; Bouls to souls can never teach What unto themselves was taught.

We are spirits clad in vells, Man by man was never seen; All our deep communing fails, To remove the shadowy screen.

Heart to heart was never known; Mind with mind did never meet; Ve are columns left alone Of a temple once complete.

Like the stars that gem the sky. Far apart, though seeming near, our light we scattered lie; All is thus but starlight here.

What is social company, But a babbling summer stream? What our wise philosophy, But the glancing of a dream?

Gnly when the sun of love ... Melts the scattered stars of thought, Only when we live above ... What the dim-eyed world hath taught,

Only when our souls are fed By the fount which gave them birth, And by inspiration led Which they never drew from earth.

We. like parted drops of rain Swelling till they meet and run, Shall be all absorbed again, Melting, flowing into one.

ERE, in this leafy place, Quiet he lies, Cold, with his sightless face Turned to the skies. Tis but another dead: All you can say is said.

> Carry his body hence-Kings must have slaves; Kings climb to eminence Over men's graves. So this man's eye is dim-Throw the earth over him.

There, at his side? Paper his hand had clutched Tight ere he died— Message or wish, maybe— Smooth the folds out and see!

What was the white you touched

Hardly the worst of us Here could have smiled! Only the tremulous Words of a child-Prattle, that has for stops Just a few ruddy drops.

Look! She is sad to miss, Morning and night, Tries to be bright. Good to mamma, and sweet. That is all—"Marguerite."

Ah! if beside the dead Slumbered the pain Ah! if the hearts that bled Slept with the slain! If the grief died-but no-Death will not have it so.

ENTERTAINMENTS

Mrs. Moncure's Reception,

One of the handsomest of January teas was given from 5 to 7 P. M. yesterday n her home, by Mrs. James Ashby Mon-cure, of No. 204 East Franklin Street in her home, by Mrs. James Ashby Mon-cure, of No. 29 East Franklin Street. The lower floor of the house was canvased in white and beautifully de-corated with pink roses, palms, smilax and maiden-hair ferns, the color effect being helghtened by pink-shaded lights. The hostess received with Mrs. Herbert Gray, her mother; Mrs. Mann S. Valen-tine, Mrs. Andrew J. Gray, Jr., and Miss French, of Wilmington, N. C., the re-ceiving party standing in the front parlor against a bank of palms.

In the dining-room were the deep crim-son of American Beauties, and wax-tapers under red silk shades, contrasted effectively with the green of palms and ferns. Miss Bell Perking and Mrs. William Daniel were at the punch table, a center of much pleasant converse and gay repartee. # THREE TRAGEDIES

Mr. Robert Mantell Will Present King Lear, Hamlet and Macbeth.

The carnival week at the lee palace in Norfolk promises to be a most interesting affair. The entertainment is to be given under the auspices of the Pleckett-Buchanan Chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, and will be for the benefit of the Confederate monument fund. Prizes will be awarded to the best and most graceful skaters. The event is causing much interest and excitement among Norfolk people. YORK PRODUCTION

"The Heir to the Hoorah" is Well Received By the Boston Press.

After a lapse of nearly twenty years, "King Lear" was presented to a New York audience, and the portrayal of the title role by Mr. Robert B. Mantell may title role by Mr. Robert B. Mantell may be readily classed as excelling that of any of his predecessors, notwithstanding their illustrious names. Never has there been such unanimity of opinion among the critics as exists in their comment on Mr. Mantell's interpretation of that most difficult individuality. That he has succeeded in arousing nothing short of enthusiasm in two weeks' consecutive presentation of the plece in Madison Square Garden Theatre, is a sufficient endorsements, notwithstanding the fact that it was preceded by his phenomenal run of three months in other Shakespearlan and classic plays.

Mr. Mantell and his excellent company will appear at the Academy of Music tonight and to-morrow matinee and night, presenting "King Lear" to-night; "Macbeth" to-morrow night, and "Hamlet" at the matinee.

Mr. Wm. A. Brady, under whose direction the tour is being arranged, has spared no expense in equipment and the scenic effects and costuming is of the very highest order.

"Down the Pike." readily classed as excelling that of any

"Down the Pike.'
One of the most handsomely equipped productions of the year is promised in the big musical comedy. "Down the Pike," which comes to the Bijon next Monday for an engagement of one week. E. D. Stair, who directs the tour, has provided seenic and electrical features without regard to cost and the costumes are of the richest fabrics. The result is that the attraction has made a splendid success and is sentitled to a place in the front rank. The fact that Johnny and Emma Ray head the cast also gives assurance of affull supply of side-splitting doings, and the musical numbers are described as being tuneful and melodious. The company numbers fifty people, including a large chorus contingent of beautiful show girls.

"The Vinegar Buyer."

"The Vinegar Buyer."

"The Vinegar Buyer."

Ezra Kendall comes to the Academy next Thursday and Wednesday in "The Vinegar Buyer." the best of the comedian's many successes.

It is a striking coincidence that when Mr. Kendall last appeared at the Grand Opera House, Chicago, two years ago, in "The Vinegar Buyer," that Mr. Richard Mansfield followed Mr. Kendall's engagement at the Grand, and upon his recent engagement Mr. Kendall succeeded Mr. Mansfield, "The Vinegar Buyer" is the work of Herbort Hall Winslow, Kendall, however, lent his assistance in the way of innumerable sudgestions, especially those that were peculiarly applicable to Kendall's unique way of saying things that make every one within hearing of his voice laugh.
